

Fiction series book very popular

Mara Purl is a multi-talented lady. As an actress, she once played “Darla Cook.” As Mara Purl she writes books, plays, scripts. She is also a wife married to a physician named Larry Norfleet and lives with him in Colorado and California.

Currently, she is creating a series of novels called the “Milford-Haven” books. She has received a lot of recognition as the stories have been ready by women everywhere and reviews are featured on radio and TV shows.

“Child Secrets” is book three in the Milford-Haven series. It continues the saga of the artistic development and travels of Miranda Jones who may travel far, but always returns to the town that has nurtured her life and dreams.

Many of her strengths as an adult were born out of her childhood experiences in living in the small town atmosphere of Milford-Haven.

Books are My Bag

By Dee Ann Ray

The book also brings back the other characters that inhabit and appreciate all the wonderful attributes of Milford-Haven. We meet new characters, too.

Miranda Jones travels to Oregon to paint the wild beauty of the state covered with trees and offering beautiful coastal areas and wider artistic vistas.

Miranda finds herself exploring mentally her childhood calamities as she enjoys the beauty of her surroundings. Can she escape the troubling imprints of that childhood and be free of them?

She explores the old failures which hid in darkness. She also seeks the light through a beacon of love.

Milford-Haven has small town shops to browse, home-cooked meals to enjoy and a lighthouse that offers delicious cups of tea.

Like many small towns, it is inhabited by interesting people who harbor special talents, many secrets and lots of opportunities to enjoy exploring the lives of the other inhabitants. Newcomers offer the opportunity to speculate and evaluate and share observations.

Many readers seem to enjoy book series such as this because they offer an opportunity to follow the folks in the books through various aspects of their lives.

Visit Milford-Haven in Mara Purl’s books and you probably will want to return to the town in future books in this series.

This series is published by Haven Books, 10153 ½ Riverside Drive, Suite 629, North Hollywood, CA 91602. A full catalog can be found at www.HavenBooks.net.

The books in this series can be obtained through your favorite bookstore/ library or purchased directly from Haven Books